

PHD

Convergence of Adaptive Finite Element Methods for Elliptic Eigenvalue Problems with Applications to Photonic Crystals

Giani, Stefano

Award date:
2008

Awarding institution:
University of Bath

Link to publication

Alternative formats

If you require this document in an alternative format, please contact:
openaccess@bath.ac.uk

Copyright of this thesis rests with the author. Access is subject to the above licence, if given. If no licence is specified above, original content in this thesis is licensed under the terms of the Creative Commons Attribution-NonCommercial-NoDerivs 4.0 International (CC BY-NC-ND 4.0) Licence (<https://creativecommons.org/licenses/by-nc-nd/4.0/>). Any third-party copyright material present remains the property of its respective owner(s) and is licensed under its existing terms.

Take down policy

If you consider content within Bath's Research Portal to be in breach of UK law, please contact: openaccess@bath.ac.uk with the details. Your claim will be investigated and, where appropriate, the item will be removed from public view as soon as possible.

Terms of Agreement

Depositor Declaration

Prior to accepting this agreement please read the University's electronic theses guidance

Under the University's Quality Assurance \(QA\) Code of Practice statement: Specification for Higher Degree Theses and Portfolios document students must deposit a final copy of their Thesis with the University.

Students are required under the Code of Practice to deposit an electronic copy in the University of Bath institutional repository (Pure), to be made available on the Internet via the Bath Research Portal. Such deposit shall be subject to the terms set out below.

Former students who have been awarded a doctorate by the University of Bath may also deposit an electronic copy of their theses in Pure on the terms appearing below.

There may be circumstances where it is not possible to give permission for online access to the thesis, or where it is necessary to restrict access for a temporary period, eg for reasons of commercial confidentiality or conditions imposed by sponsors. For further information on restricting access to theses please see the 'How to submit your thesis' web page: Restricting public availability of your thesis

Depositor's declaration

By accepting this agreement, you:

1. Confirm that all submitted copies of your Thesis, whether in paper or electronic format, are identical in terms of content.
2. Confirm that the Thesis is original and you are the author and owner of the copyright in the Thesis.
3. Confirm that the Thesis is not and shall be in no way a violation or infringement of any copyright, trademark, patent, confidentiality obligations or other rights of any third party.
4. Confirm that if the Thesis does include any substantial subsidiary material owned by 3rd-party copyright holders, you have sought and obtained permission to include it in any version of the Thesis available in digital format via stand-alone device or communications network and that this permission encompasses the rights granted to the University of Bath and to the British Library. Where you have not been able to obtain the necessary rights or permissions for the inclusion of certain material in your thesis you affirm that you have removed it.
5. Confirm that, if the Thesis has been funded or otherwise supported by any third party, you have fulfilled any obligations required by an associated contract or agreement.
6. Accept that your Thesis will be made available in full without charge on the Internet via the Bath Research Portal.
7. Accept that your Thesis will be accessible to a wide variety of people and institutions – including automated agents – via the internet and that an electronic copy of your Thesis may also be included in the British Library Electronic Theses On-Line System (EThOS). Once the Thesis is deposited, a citation to the Thesis will always remain visible. Removal of the Thesis may be made after discussion with the University who shall use all reasonable endeavours to ensure removal of the Thesis from any third party with whom the University has an agreement.
8. Grant a non-exclusive, royalty-free licence to the University of Bath to make available the Thesis in digitised format via Bath Research Portal. You remain free to publish the Thesis elsewhere in its present version or future versions.
9. Agree that the administrators of the University's institutional repository (Pure) may, without changing content, digitise and migrate the Thesis to any medium or format for future preservation and accessibility.
10. Accept that the University of Bath has no obligation to take legal action on my behalf, or other rights holders, in the event of infringement of intellectual property rights, breach of contract or any other right in the Thesis.

11. Accept that access to the Thesis via Bath Research Portal will be subject to a CCBY-NC-ND creative commons licence but this will not prevent me from making the Thesis available under a more permissive licence on alternative sites. I understand that by clicking on this button I acknowledge and agree to the terms set out above.

If you have any queries relating to these terms please contact openaccess@bath.ac.uk

I accept the terms of agreement

A handwritten signature in black ink that reads "Stephanie Yoon". The signature is written in a cursive style with a large initial 'S' and a long horizontal stroke at the end.